

Facilitator's Profile – Samuel Jonathan

Samuel Jonathan is the Founder of the Royal Centre For Public Speaking. He has authored and designed over 200 courses, programmes and educational resources on public speaking, communication skills and presentation mastery. Academicians refer to him as "Prof" (short for Professor). His signature style of coaching has been described by broadcasters, corporate executives and renowned public officials and world leaders as inspiring, uplifting and transformative. This has resulted in Samuel receiving 76 career awards, 2 international awards and over 1,200 testimonials from 13 countries. A very short list of organisations and educational institutions who have benefitted from Samuel's coaching legacy include British International School, Johns Hopkins University (USA), Barclays, The British Council, KPMG, Ernst & Young, University of Ghana, UK Government, TOTAL, Delta Airlines, Cadbury and The United Nations. The sole reason why Samuel is availing himself at such an affordable rate is because of the legacy he is establishing. He wholeheartedly desires to empower all who are willing to acquire a skill that has held them back for years and sometimes, a lifetime. That skill is "Public Speaking". In fulfilment of this lifelong desire and legacy, Samuel Jonathan established The Tell and Share Project, a community-focused series of public speaking courses and confidence-building workshops. Above all the awards, applauses and accolades, Samuel is blessed with amazing children from The LORD.

Below is a short list of companies and organizations from which individuals, managers and executives have attended training/coaching programmes conducted by Mr. Jonathan

